INTRODUCTION †

Religion is popularly defined as worship of Superior Power either for attainment of divine life or for avoiding evils in wordly life. The essence of religion consists in worship; and in all forms of worship a Mantra of one type or the other is used. A Mantra is in everyway the most important and the most difficult subject in the Tantrashastra.

It is true that a Mantra is meaningless to those who do not know its meaning, but to those who do, it is not 'Jobber' though it has become the subject of ignorance and superstitious use.

The textual source of Mantras is to be found in the Vedas, Puranas and Tantras. The Tantras are essentially the Mantra-shastra. The Tantric religion was in vogue in the days of the Puranas; and references to Tantric deities and to the Tantric form of worship are found in a number of Puranas and in many ancient Sanskrit works. In fact the ritual side of the Vedas constitutes what we designate as Tantras. These Tantras have attempted to make a practicle exposition of the philosophical truths expounded in the Vedas and the Upanishadas.

The rites and the rituals consisting of many mystic symbols, constitute some of the occult secrets of Tantric religion calculated for furthering concentration, for augmenting self - control and for the restraint of the senses of the devotee.

It must, however, be admitted with reluctance that there are some prejudices among the people against the Tantric creed on account of its some rites and rituals which apparently appear to be highly licentious, extremely cruel and exceedingly loathsome. The high and sublime truths of the Tantras are not properly understood and as a result of that, these have been degraded by the vicious people for their selfish ends and for the gratification of their animal appetites. The misinterpretation of Pancha Makaras is a good illustration to this point. The Pancha Makaras are मद्य, मांस, मत्स्य, मुद्रा and मैथुन. It is stated in the Tantras that one should worship the goddess with these five. Now these rites appear on the face of them quite abhorrent but there are great esoteric meanings behind them. They teach the man to overcome his temptations, to supress the lustful impulse within him, to concentrate his mind on the object of his devotion, to keep himself bodily fit for performing religious rites— in short to relinquish his desire and self and convert the various pursuits of enjoyment into instruments of spiritual discipline.

Now what is a Mantra ? It is generally described as a prayer, formula of worship, mystic syllables etc. Any set of words or letters is not a Mantra. A Mantra consists of certain letters arranged in definite sequence of sounds of which the letters are the representative signs. To produce the designed effect, a Mantra must be intoned in the proper way according to both वर्ण (sound) and स्वर (rhythm). A Mantra, when rightly recited, is a potent compelling force, a word of power, effective both to produce material gain and accomplish worldly desires, as also to promote the fourth aim of human existence viz. moksha, advaitic knowledge and liberation.

The Mantras have different names depending upon the number of syllables it contains. Commonly the term बीज is applied to monosyllabic Mantras. The Mantras which are quintessence of a Mantra and the seed of the fruit which is सिद्धि, are called बीजमन्त्रऽ. There are a very large number of these बीजऽ such as ह्रीं, श्रीं, क्रीं etc. called by different names. Thus ह्रीं is called मायाबीज, श्रीं is called लक्ष्मीबीज etc. Each Deity has His or Her बीज. This बीज is used in the worship of the Deity whose Mantra it is.
The primary Mantra of a Deity is called मूलमन्त्र. The names of other Mantras are पिण्डमन्त्र, कर्तरीमन्त्र, मालामन्त्र etc.

A Mantra is a Shakti which lends itself impartially to any use. A man can identify himself with any of the nature's forces and for any end. Thus a Mantra may be used to injure, kill or do good. By a Mantra a transference of power from the Guru to his disciple is said to have been effected. Various thus are the purposes for which the Mantras are invoked. Of these the following are prominent.

(1) liberation, (2) worship of the manifested God, (3) worship of the Deities, (4) communication with the Deities, (5) acquisition of super-human powers, (6) communication with ghosts and evil spirits, (7) warding of evil influences, (8) cure of diseases, (9) influnencing others' thoughts and actions, (10) bringing men, ghosts etc. under control. Thus the Mantras possess subtle powers of action on the spiritual, mental and physical planes of existence.

By practice with the Mantra, the Deity is invoked. This means that the mind itself becomes the Deity when it is unified with the Deity. This is achieved through repetition of the Mantra (जप).

The efficacy of the Mantras is not a matter of opinion but an established fact. It is testified by the evidence of the sages of hoary antiquity and corroborated by a host of साधकऽ of all ages. There are a number of साधकऽ still living who have had direct proof of the efficacy of the Mantras. Each one of us, if we will, can obtain such direct proof ourselves.

A Mantra takes different forms according as it appears as seed, sprout, root, stem, trunk, branch, twig, leaf, flower, and fruit. Just as one cannot have leaf, flower, fruit etc. without first sowing the seed, so one cannot acquire competence for the reception of other Mantras without first being initiated in the special Mantra of the Deity. For this reason the Mantra of the Deity which is received at the time of initiation is called बीजमन्त्र. The Mantra formed of the name of the Deity is the sprout which rises out of the बीजमन्त्र and tantric सन्ध्या, गायत्री, न्यास, पूजा and उपचारमन्त्रऽ are all its stems, trunk, branches and twigs. स्तुतिमन्त्रऽ and वन्दनमन्त्रऽ are its leaves and flowers and the कवच (protective Mantra) consisting of the Mantras, is its fruit. Just as all seeds are contained in the fruit and sprout, trunk, leaf, flower etc. are contained in the seed in extremely subtle states, so the बीजमन्त्रS are contained in the कवच, which is the fruit of the बीजमन्त्रS and सिद्धि and साधनशक्ति etc. are also contained in the बीजमन्त्रS in extremely subtle form.

In the मन्त्र shastra, श्रीविद्या holds a unique position It enunciates the great Upanishadic truth of the identity of the individual self with the transcendent self, contained in the famous महावाक्य, तत् त्वम् असि. It is recognised as containing the entire doctrine of Hinduism. परशुरामकल्पसूत्र which is one of the most authoritative and profound works on श्रीविद्या system of worship, is a digest of श्रीविद्या written by श्रीपरशुराम for the benefit of the devotees. A passage from त्रिपुरारहस्य shows the circumstances under which परशुरामकल्पसूत्र was composed by श्रीपरशुराम. The details of उपासनाकाण्ड of the वेद were compiled by श्रीशिव in six classes of works known as आगम, रहस्य, संहिता, यामल, अर्णव and तन्त्र. श्रीपरशुराम seeing them too vast and the concepts in them too difficult to digest for the average devotee, requested his revered master श्रीदत्तात्रेय to teach the system in an abridged form. The latter knowing that the उपासना of त्रिपुरासुन्दरी was the highest of all forms of worship, composed a संहिता called त्रिपुरोपास्तिपद्धति comprising 18,000 verses in which he described the worship of त्रिपुरासुन्दरी in all its details. श्रीपरशुराम learnt this संहिता from श्रीदत्तात्रेय himself. But finding that it was still too vast in extent and its meaning still too deep for the average devotee to understand, श्रीपरशुराम abridged the संहिता still further and presented it in an intelligible form in his कल्पसूत्र. The further abridgment and simplification of this कल्पसूत्र by the sage सुमेध of Harita family, a disciple of श्रीपरशुराम, has come down to us as त्रिपुरारहस्य.

श्रीभास्करराय who was initiated into पञ्चदशाक्षरी मन्त्र – श्रीविद्यामन्त्र – and into the worship of श्रीविद्या and who devoted his long life and marvellous intellectual powers to the services of श्रीत्रिपुरासुन्दरी, wrote his commentary on परशुरामकल्पसूत्र. He expanded the doctrines of श्रीविद्या contained in the same.

All this clearly shows that श्रीपरशुराम was not only initiated into श्रीविद्यामन्त्र and the worship of श्रीविद्या but he was also an authority on श्रीविद्या. We also get copious references in ancient literature to the effect that the instructions of श्रीविद्या were initially imparted to श्रीपरशुराम by Lord शिव himself.

In the vedic texts this मन्त्र is alluded to by signs, while in the सांखायनश्रुति and other texts, technical words are used to indicate it. It is considered as a secret doctrine. Because 'neither for kingdom, nor for one's life may षोडषाक्षरी be revealed' is the injunction. Therefore its transmission except to those qualified to receive it, is entirely prohibited.

Although to-day the text of श्रीविद्या has been published and a number of learned commentators have come forward to explain the secret significance embodid in the letters of श्रीविद्यामन्त्र it has remained a secret. It becomes effective only on initiation and instruction from a Guru.

The text of श्रीभार्गवकवच announces in clear terms that the devotee will see श्रीपरशुराम in bodily form by the religious recitation of श्रीभार्गवकवच. The devotee, who will be blessed with the sight of श्रीपरशुराम in bodily form, will be the most fortunate one and he may perhaps be initiated into the secret knowledge of श्रीविद्या by श्रीपरशुराम himself.

Now the essence of all religions, though one and the same, the forms of religions are many, depending upon man's temparament, education, imagination, culture and taste. Naturally there cannot be one and the same इष्टदेवता for all, even professing the same religion. As a result of this a number of treatises came to be composed embodying the description of different Deities for the benefit of the devotees. The list of कवचs detailed below, with the sources mentioned against each, bears an ample testimony to this statement.

श्रीभार्गवकवच is unique in itself and the Deity of the कवच superb. The कवच itself states —

किमन्यैः कवचैर्देवि किमन्यैर्मनुभिश्च वा ।
जामदग्न्यः परं यस्य दैवतं भृत्यवत्सलः ॥ 25-26

and

जामदग्न्य इवान्योऽस्ति न देवो भृत्यवत्सलः ।
प्रस्फुरद्गुणसौवर्णराशीनां जन्मभूः परः ॥
तेथदमिव धर्मान्यद्धर्मादिफलदं न हि ।
क्वचेऽस्मिन्सकृज्जप्ते मन्त्रावृत्तिसहस्रजं ॥
फलमाप्नोत्यविकलं तस्मान्नित्यं जपेन्नरः ।   147–151

The truth embodied in these lines can be verified if we remember the undertakings of श्रीपरशुराम· श्रीपरशुराम is generally described in ancient literature as 'धनस्य देवता' 'यशस्य देवता'. It is described that श्रीपरशुराम himself has performed the अश्वमेधयज्ञ and helped the पाण्डवऽ in leading the sacrifice they had started, to a successful completion by his generous offer of wealth to them.

To these two epithets of श्रीपरशुराम we add one more — श्रीपरशुराम as 'युद्धस्य देवता·' श्रीपरशुराम was an invincible warrior. He was perfect in all sciences and thoroughly versed in archery. He also founded the science of archery of his own and trained pupils like भीष्म, द्रोण, कर्ण and others, who figured prominently in the great Mahabharata War.

श्रीपरशुराम has been described as one of the seven चिरंजीविन्ऽ, the other six being अश्वत्थामान्, बलि, व्यास, हनुमान्, बिभीषण and कृप· This is corroborated by his public appearances on some occasions in different yugas. श्रीपरशुराम is recognised as an incarnation of श्रीविष्णु, the Lord of the universe; and it is said that श्रीविष्णु appeared on earth in the form of श्रीपरशुराम to chastise the wicked and evil-doers and to subdue the arrogant. He killed कार्तवीर्यार्जुन and other क्षत्रियऽ and cleared the earth of all क्षत्रियऽ twenty-one times. श्रीपरशुराम raised his axe against the क्षत्रियऽ mainly because the latter had oppressed the pious people. We have also information from the Puranas that श्रीपरशुराम rebuked and cursed even the ब्राह्मणऽ when they swerved from their righteous path. श्रीपरशुराम did appear on the scene a number of times whenever occasions demanded it.

Ramayana again describes the meeting of श्रीपरशुराम and श्रीरामचन्द्र when the first transferred his martial power to the latter with instructions to him to carry on the mission which he had started.

Similary Mahabharata narrates that श्रीपरशुराम offered his valuable advice to श्रीकृष्ण on certain policy of war-craft.

Kalkipurana is replete with references to श्रीपरशुराम's activity. He then acted as a Guru to कल्कि in matters of religion, warfare and the state. श्रीपरशुराम not only trained him in tactices of warfare but guided him also at every stage in his work of inflicting punishment on impious and arrogant people.

All these go to convince us that श्रीपरशुराम has been watching the affairs of the world and if invoked with deep devotion and sincerity of heart, the devotee should feel certain in securing his grace and unbounded favour. And this is the message which श्रीभार्गवकवच carries to the devotees.

The present editon of श्रीभार्गवकवच is based on two paper Manuscripts belonging to the collection of Shri D. B. Karkare, a resident of Khanapur in the District of Belgaum. We could sccure these Manuscripts through courtesy of Shri. P. R. Dhamdhere of Poona.

A — This Manuscript is of the size of 18.9 cm. x 8.8 cm. A margin of 2.2 cm. each is left on the right hand side and the left hand side of the folio, and of 1.9 cm. each at the top and at the bottom. Thc Manuscript contains nine folios. There are seven lines on each folio, each line having about 25-26 letters on an average. It is in good condition. The hand-writing is bold, clear and legible and is uniform throughout. The writing which is in Devanagari characters, is fairly correct. The material used for writing is imported quality of laid marked hand made paper, slightly creamish in colour. The Manuscript is dated as the 6th day of the dark fortnight of the month of Pousha in Shaka 1688, Vyayanamasamvatsara.

B — The second Manuscript appears to be a copy of the previous one. It is of the size of 21.8 cm. x 11.4 cm. A margin of 3.6 cm. each is left on the right hand side and the left hand side of the folio, and of 2.4 cm. each at the top and at the bottom. The Manuscript contains seven folios. There are nine lines on each folio, each line having 27–28 letters on an average. The hand-writing is clear, legible and uniform throughout. The writing which is in Devanagari characters, is fairly correct. The material used for writing is imported quality of laid marked hand made paper, creamish in colour. It is in good condition.
श्रीभार्गवकवच forms part of 33rd Patala in the section of जामदग्न्य-दिव्याञ्जनसिद्धिकल्प belonging to श्रीविष्णुयामलतन्त्र ‡

The colophon of both the Manuscripts reads as follows :—
इति श्रीविष्णुयामलतन्त्रे उपरिभागे जामदग्न्यदिव्याञ्जनसिद्धिकल्पे त्रयस्त्रिंशत्पटलः ।

The subject matter of श्रीभार्गवकवच is described to have been narrated by Lord Shiva, to his wife, Parvati, when both of them were sitting on the peak of mountain Kailasa,

‡ We have not come across so far this work either in print or in Manuscript-form.

Lord Shiva informed Parvati that this कवच was a secret doctrine or a mystical teaching and as such was not to be disclosed or imparted to any body, but taking into consideration the fact that she was his own self, he expounded this doctrine with a view to benefit the world.

The main text of श्रीभार्गवकवच is to be recited as prescribed by the sages, by assigning various parts of the body to श्रीपरशुराम. In the description of this nyasa, we come across the following appellations of श्रीपरशुराम:—

अधरीकृतशात्रव – who has eclipsed or excelled his foes.
अनहंकृति – free from self-conceit or pride.
अमोघदृश् – of an unfailing look or eye.
आर्य – highly esteemed.
उदरस्थजगत् – who has the universe in his stomach.
ऊर्ध्वदृश् – looking upwards (in meditating posture).
करुणानिधि – a treasure of pity or compassion.
कर्णान्तलोचन – having long eyes reaching the ears.
कश्यपार्पितविष्टप – who offered the world to Kashyapa (as a gift in the sacrifice).
कार्तवीर्यारि – an enemy of Kartavirya.
क्रोधदर्पहन् – destroying anger and pride.
क्षतजाभिषवप्रिय – fond of ablution of blood.
क्षत्रियान्तक – causing death of kshatriyas.
क्षोणीभरापहन् – removing the burden of the earth.
खण्डपरशु – cutting his foes to pieces with an axe.
गोत्रार्तिहन् – removing or destroying distress of the earth.
चित्रचरित्र – having a distinguished or wonderful career.
जगतां पति – a lord of the earth.
जामदग्न्य – a son of Jamadagni.
त्रिःसप्तकृत्वःकुलहन् – destroying the families (of kshatriyas) twenty-one times.
दक्षयज्ञान्तकप्रिय – dear to the destroyer of Daksha's sacrifice.
दन्तीन्द्रविक्रम – valiant as the lord of elephants.

दासवत्सल – affectionate towards one who is submissive.
दृढविक्रम – of firm fortitude.
दृप्तनाशन – a destroyer of the arrogant.
निध्यातविष्टप – meditated upon by the world.
निस्तुलप्रभ – possessing incomparable splendour.
पर – the supreme spirit.
परमपूरुष – the supreme being.
परमेष्ठिन् – the supreme being.
परशुराम – N. of the son of Jamadagni..
परश्वधधर – wielding or holding an axe.
परश्वधिन् – furnished or armed with an axe.
पादचारिन् – going or fighting on foot.
पापहन् – destroying sin or the wicked, removing evil.
पाश्चात्याम्बुधिमर्दन – subduing the the western ocean.
पुरुषवीर – a hero among men.
पुष्टिवर्धन – increasing property or welfare.
पूर्वाभिभाषिन् – speaking first, polite, complaisant.
भयापह – warding off fear or danger.
भवमोचन – releasing from worldly existence.
भृगुसंतानभूरुह – a wish-fulfilling tree for the Bhrigus.
भृत्यार्तिनाशन – removing distress of those who are submissive.
मखकृत् – a performer of the sacrifice.
मङ्गलगुण – having auspicious qualities.
महेन्द्रनिलय – having the mountain Mahendra as his abode.
मेरुसम – one who is like the mountain Meru.
रसरूप – full of affection-
राम – in whom the yogins delight, having handsome form.
रिपुजित् – conquering a foe.
रेणुकासुत – the son of Renuka.
ललित – one who is cherished.
विपदान्तक – making an end of calamity or misfortune.
शंकरशिष्य – a disciple of Lord Shiva.
शीलवत् – possessed of good disposition or character.

श्रीवत्सलाञ्छन – marked with the Shrivatsa.

श्रीश – a lord of Shri.

संघातहन्तृ – a killer of a group (of enemies).

सत्तमार्चित – worshipped or honoured by the most virtuous.

सर्वजित् – all-conquering.

सहस्रभुजशासन – a chastiser of Kartavirya, who had thousand hands.

सायकासनवत् – armed with a bow.

सिद्धार्चित – worshipped by those endowed with supernatural powers.

सुनास – having a beautiful nose.

सुश्रवस् – abounding in glory, famouse, gracious.

स्कन्दविजयिन् – a conqueror of Skanda.

हितकर – a benefactor.

हैहयवंशहन् – destroying the sons of Kartavirya.

It is then advised not to impart the knowledge of this secret doctrine to an atheist, to one who is not a giver, or who is devoid of faith. It should not be made over to one who is ill-mannered, or who is a reciter of heterodox works. It should not be taught to one who does not possess devotion, or who is not gifted with intellectual faculty. But it should be imparted to one who is a worshipper, and to one who is pure i. e. who is free from dis-honesty and villainy. To a person who is deeply devoted and who understands this science, this Kavacha may be imparted.

In the last section of this work, it is stated that the श्रीभार्गवकवच is meant to confer on the reciter different kinds of results. Therefore this Kavacha, if recited at least thrice a day, observing certain restrictions, is bound to yield a good fruit to the reciter. Different methods of reciting it are detailed below for the benefit of those cherishing different kinds of fruits.

A person intending to draw towards himself the goddess of Laxmi, residing at leisure on the chest of Lord Vishnu, can do so by re-peating श्रीभार्गवकवच over and again.

Similarly a king devotedly reciting this Kavacha, can obtain absolute sovereignty over the world. Further he will be invincible by even a group of the most powerful enemies.

Even the imps and evil spirits run away in fear from a devotee, protected by this Kavacha.

A king desiring to gain victory on the battle-field, is surely garlanded by the goddess of victory, if he inscribes this Kavacha on a birch-leaf with the ink of his blood and recites it at night huudred times, meditating all the while on श्रीपरशुराम in his heart, and ties the birch-leaf on his hand.

To such a person, even the god of wisdom and eloquence, the god of might and valour submit and surrender.

Even by reciting this mystical teaching with a tilaka mark of blood put on his forehead, a person gets success in all fields.

If a man recites this Kavacha, going to the valley of the mountain Mahendra, fixing his eyes on the Sun for forty days, reciting it hundred times a day, obtains his desired worldly objects and he is attended with all prosperity.

By repeating this Kavacha devotedly, he wins श्रीपरशुराम's favours and acquires wonderful supernatural powers.

The evil spirits, the spirits of dead persons, devilish beings, fatal diseases, wicked kings, thieves and robbers, wild birds and beasts, all run away from a person, who is armoured with this armour.

For a devotee, soliciting श्रीपरशुराम's vicinity which is very difficult to obtain even by the yogins, the followiug procedure is prescribed: he should go to the peak of the mountain Mahendra, worship the Sun and meditate on the mental representation of the personal attributes of श्रीपरशुराम, who is being in the disc of the Sun, whose face shines with tranquility, whose head is decorated with a knot of braided or matted hair, whose shoulders are embellished with an axe and a bow, who has held in one of the fingers of his right hand a rosary of Eleocarpus seeds (aksha), who has placed his lotus-like left hand on his left knee, whose lotus-like neck is emerging, who has slightly closed his eyes, who has a lotus-like mouth very serene, whose face bears a sweet smile, who has leaf-like lips, who has a noble and handsome form, and who has his hands resembling the expanded hood of a snake.

Meditating thus on the mental representation of the personal attributes of श्रीपरशुराम the devotee should worship him by repeating his following twelve auspicious appellations :-

कश्यपाशासुरद्रुम – wish-fulfilling tree for the wish of Kashyapa.
कार्तवीर्यकुलोच्छेत्तृ – extirpating the family of Kartavirya.
क्षत्रवंशप्रतापन – subduing the arrogance of kshatriyas.
जगन्नेतृ – a leader of the world (spiritual ?).
जामदग्न्य – a son of Jamadagni.
परश्वधधर – a wielder of an axe.
ब्रह्मण्य – devoted to sacred knowledge, beneficial to all, friendly to the Brahmanas, pious.
ब्रह्मवत्सल – devoted to sacred knowledge.
महेन्द्रकृतकेतन – who has made the mountain Mahendra as his abode.
राम – in whom the yogins delight, having handsome form.
विश्वजिद्दीक्षित – who has taken a vow of conquering the world, who is initiated for the Vishvajit sacrifice.
शान्त – not involved in material pleasures, tranquil.

Having worshipped श्रीपरशुराम with the above-mentioned twelve names, the devotee should again attend on श्रीपरशुराम by means of the following sixteen mystical names, repeating them ten times a day, for a period of one month. At the end of this period he is blessed with the sight of श्रीपरशुराम's vision.

त्रयीमय – formed of the three Vedas.
त्रिगुणातीत – who is beyond the three gunas.

त्रिजगन्मय – formed of the three worlds.
त्रिधामन् – shining in the three worlds.
त्रिमूर्ति – having three forms (as Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva).
धर्मचरण – a performer or observer of duty.
धातृ – supporting the world.
नारायण – pervading the universe.
परं तत्त्व – the highest truth.
परं ब्रह्मन् – The supreme spirit.
परात्पर – superior to the best.
भर्गरूप – of the form of lustre or effulgence.
भार्गव – a descendant of Bhrigu.
योगीन्द्रहृदयालय – having an abode in the heart of the best of yogins
सतां गति – the refuse of the good.
हंस – removing the fear of Samsara, moving in all the bodies.

If the devotee continues the recitation of this Kavacha as per procedure described above for three months, he is favoured with the grace of श्रीपरशुराम and as a result of it he experiences perfect quiet, sees श्रीपरशुराम in bodily form and receives from him the highest blessings.
